However, it has evolved to include twin sliding doors that exploit the inside / outside kitchen as well as multiple awning options and social space. Both driver & passenger seats swivel so four can dine / relax with ample leg room.

Q: SHOULD I CONSIDER THE MRV?

A: Both MRV & Day Vans models share our Innovative suspended bed, The Day van "trumps" the MRV with a 100% clear load space and the option of a full width wider bed, plus up to 8 passenger travel seats. The MRV "trumps" the Day van when "off grid" with larger water tanks, gas bottle, 2 burner hob, solar panel as standard and furniture providing more efficient designated storage.

Q: WHICH ROOF HEIGHT IS RIGHT FOR ME?

A: This depends if you think with your head or your heart, the Lo-line is the most affordable and just sneaks under most height barriers. The Pop top carries the highest premium, but it's your only option if you need 4 berths within the van, plus in the Summer the pop top gives you the best of both Lo-line & Hi-line. The Hi-line is the most pragmatic roofline giving you insulated comfort from September to April, organised storage, removing "clutter" from your floor and is significantly cheaper than a Pop top. If 4 berths are only required for occasional summer use, then a drive-a-way awning could be an alternative solution.

CONVERSION: Just because either the Day van Tourneo or Day van Custom offers hundreds of combinations doesn't mean you need them all at once! Most owners will usually switch between a couple of floor plans in the knowledge they can always add or remove elements in the future or when a specific occasional floor plan is needed.

All day vans include, Twin side doors & tailgate (unless highline, rear barn doors) swivel passenger & driver cab seat, air conditioning, blackout curtains, cab silver screens, Suspended bed anchors & reinforced integral rear bed supports, insulation & Carpet trimmed, Altro flooring & stainless steel door trims, LED lights, 240V hook up, designated leisure battery and 240V/12V charger, 100W solar panel.
